

Individual bathroom furniture from Alape. Your stage for sense and sensuality.

Goslar, April 2022 – Places of retreat are becoming more important in a fast-paced world. The home offers refuge and conveys a sense of security. Additionally, values such as naturalness, durability, and the desire for individuality are becoming increasingly more important. Alape can incorporate this high standard into the bathroom furnishings with the new Arkta range. Under the headline "Your personal washplace", the specialist for high-quality washstands is now focusing on the entire washplace – from the basin to high-quality furniture solutions, and a well-balanced interaction with matching accessories.

A stage for sense and sensuality. Modular furniture with high design standards.

Even with its current furniture range developed with Sieger design, the premium manufacturer remains true to its attitude towards well-defined designs with timeless aesthetics. Arkta embodies "sense and sensuality" in one. Exclusive materials, a balanced design, smart details, and the sustainable use of resources are the hallmarks for all products in the range. Derived from the Nordic style of living which combines minimalism with comfort and functionality, a diverse range of furniture has been created that expresses personality and blends harmoniously into different styles of living, thanks to its purist design and diverse customisation options.

Design products that capture and inspire life.

With a clear design, precise workmanship, and a perfect symbiosis with the Alape basins, Arkta also impresses with huge planning possibilities. Variable widths of between 800mm and 1600mm, two heights, and different materials for countertops and furniture surfaces all bring design into play. In addition, you have the choice of two washbasins in three colours and four design handles in coordinated finishes however, the furniture can also be used without a handle for a purist look.

Five high-quality and easy-care countertops can be perfectly matched to the furniture modules with their natural characteristics. Here, the solid and vibrant materials made of mineral material, quartz, and ceramic in an elegant design combined with the furniture elements, produce a harmonious yet stylish effect. The real wood veneer furniture exudes naturalness and comfort, while the matt white lacquered colours and three harmonious tones in silk grey, quartz grey, and turquoise grey give the furniture a pleasant texture and harmony. The precisely mitred surround frame on the front of the furniture is an expressive design detail and gives the design a sensual touch.

Customisation. With flexible furniture modules.

The Arkta modular furniture range offers a variety of design options including a wide range of different surfaces, dimensions, and handle variants. In addition, various special solutions are possible with a surcharge which means that the furniture modules can be interconnected for more spacious applications, and are also available in special dimensions if required. On request, Alape can even supply the lacquered colours in all the matt RAL finishes.

Sustainability. Always in focus.

The premium products also score highly in sustainability: In addition to all the customisation options for the furniture, and the demands in terms of functionality, design, and perfection, responsible and sustainable materials are the focus of the Arkta furniture range. The selected surfaces are certified and meet the highest quality and sustainability standards such as the NEOLITH® ceramic worktops that are made of 100% natural raw materials and are fully recyclable. The wood selected for the furniture modules also comes from certified, sustainably managed forests, thus supporting an environmentally conscious lifestyle.

Perfect solutions. For every furnishing style.

Thanks to the wide choice of surface and handle variations, very different washplaces with their very own style are created in combination with functional interior layouts, additional cabinet elements, as well as matching mirror and storage solutions. They're all created with great attention to detail and skilled craftsmanship, and manufactured to suit individual design requirements and room dimensions.
